

Penguin Joke

Tell your child this penguin joke. If necessary, use the pictures to help explain why the joke is funny by pulling your child's attention to the thought bubbles.

Then encourage your child to practice and then re-tell it to someone else.

A man was driving down the highway with a car full of penguins. Penguins were sticking out everywhere. A policeman pulled him over and said,

"Take those penguins straight to the zoo or I will give you a ticket!"

The man promised he would and drove off.

The next day, the same highway, the same car, the same guy, the same policeman and the same penguins - only this time the penguins were all wearing sunglasses!

The officer pulled the guy over and said,

„I thought I told you to take these penguins to the zoo!"

„I did" said the guy, „Today I'm taking them to the beach!"

